

“My strong connection to Chaminade goes back over 50 years to the Vietnam War. A member of my platoon, Lance Cpl. Guido Farinaro, CHS Class of '67, was tragically killed in action - the first Marine I lost in combat. Guido had an incredible influence on my life. I learned from him that we don't control when we die, but we do control how we live. His legacy links me to Chaminade, and I'm proud to support this amazing institution where every graduate makes a difference.”

LEARNING TODAY
LEADING TOMORROW

Dear Chaminade Family,

A young alumnus, Ryan, recently emailed me to say:

"I am truly grateful for my Chaminade experience. The academic preparation and the extracurricular opportunities I had, such as designing an app and working in the Element Film Club, were invaluable. Now that I am studying at the University of Michigan, I feel well-prepared for anything that comes my way. Recent changes at Chaminade, like college-style lectures and class lengths, ensured that I had a smooth transition into a top-tier university."

Ryan captured exactly why we do what we do everyday! Everything we have done for nearly 90 years has been with the goal of preparing young men for the challenges of college and beyond. A new academic curriculum that incorporates our Financial Literacy Lab with 20 Bloomberg terminals, featured on the cover of this brochure, continues our tradition of innovation. Just one of the Chaminade experiences helping the learners of today become the leaders of tomorrow.

Our students rely on your continued support. Your gift to the Torch Fund allows us to continue to keep a Chaminade education among the best and most affordable in the country. Thank you for your generosity.
